No woman looks as good to others as she does to herself.

Fortune's cuffs may be reversible, but the kicks are not.

In some parts of Italy the wholesale price of wine is little more than a cent a quart.

The best corks come from Algeria. There are 2,500,000 acres of cork forests in that country.

The British Postal Department uses eighty millions of envelopes yearly for telegrams alone.

The weather has been so severe in Michigan that legislative junkets have actually been cancelled.

The United States attorney-general evidently does not feel as Moody as he is in his victory over the beef trust.

Some men are born great, others have greatness thrust on them and others are simply good advertisers.

A machine is being perfected in a Birmingham shop that is to turn out from 9,000 to 10,000 finished wire nails an hour.

Judge Swayne said the other judges charged up $10 a day, so he followed suit. An honest confession of a dishonest practice.

Congress has passed a bill authorizing the conveyance of a small tract of land in St. Augustine to the city for school purposes.

People from the North who stopped off at Atlanta for the winter, have been enjoying it to the fullest extent the past few days.

Here is a chance to say a fair word for Mrs. Chadwick. She has refused an offer of $200 a week to go on the vaudeville stage. Cassie, too, has her good points.

Some parts of Georgia that have suffered from the grip of the recent storm are now struggling with another form of the gripe. In many places there are hundreds of cases.

There are numerous suggestions made that newspapers be read in the schools in place of some of the books now in use. It might be a good idea to let the pupils practice proof-reading on some of them.

The production of gold for 1904 was $350,000,000. Most newspaper men would have placed the figure under that amount, although we thought, from what has been going on, that it was not far from that amount.

In Mississippi, Tennessee, Kentucky, the Carolinas and Georgia, the storm of Saturday and Sunday did serious damage. The oat crop of Georgia is said to be almost completely ruined. In Northern Texas there was considerable suffering.

The mammoth Polar bear which for 24 winters has enjoyed the cold weather at the Lincoln Park Zoo in Chicago, succumbed to the recent cold snap in the Windy City, and was found frozen to death after the three days' struggle with 15 degrees below zero.

FLORIDA FOR ALL.

Florida, in years past, was only enjoyed by a few of the very wealthy people of the North, who came here in winter for pleasure and to escape the severe cold. Some also came here for health and returned in the spring feeling much better from having escaped the pains of the body caused by the chilly wintry blasts. Others came here because they were restless and desired a change, but were soon uneasy after they reached here and wanted to return.

Many people are in Florida today who for years had read of and hoped to see the beautiful flowers to be found here at most any time in the winter. From infancy to manhood and womanhood they have longed to see the South, and when the time came that they could leave their homes, they came and saw.

Each year the crowds increase, and those who have been here once or twice are sure to come again. People of wealth flock to the palace hotels where they can show their fine wearing apparel and indulge in the society functions they might enjoy at home, although some would not be able to secure the social standing they do abroad.

Others come for quiet and absolute rest, in the hope to recuperate from the malady that is afflicting them, and they find it in the smaller villages, near beautiful inland lakes or in the forests of the long-leaf pine, far away from the maddening crowds of the congested winter hotels, and by careful nursing, throwing medicine to the dogs, and plenty of outdoor exercise, regain their health.

But the sick ones long for the outdoor air, and when shut up in the house by the disagreeable weather that is sometimes prevalent for a few days, forget that in their Northern homes it is doubly disagreeable. A few days of cool weather is beneficial to the health of the country, and after it comes the pure air laden with the fragrance of jessamine and orange blossoms, amply repaying for the few days of cool weather.

Another feature has been added to the entertainment of winter tourists, and one that is taken advantage of by many. In various portions of the State are conducted winter chautauques, Sunday school conventions and Bible meetings, which are located away from the centers where the "butterfly" throngs assemble, supplied with men of National reputation as exponents of the doctrines of the true religion, also literary and musical people of merit, to join in furnishing both instruction and entertainment for those who prefer something more substantial.

There is room in Florida for a winter's enjoyment for all good people who desire to come. All are welcome.

The Townsend-Esch railroad rate bill which is now before the National House of Representatives at Washington, must be made to suit the Republicans or it does not go. The three amendments Representative Williams of Mississippi demanded were, he said, to give the commission power to substitute a rate for the one declared off; to make that rate operative until set aside by final judgment of a court, and to base appeal or review to a court upon evidence adduced before the Interstate Commerce Commission. But Townsend declared in favor of letting the railroads voluntarily correct any evils not covered by the bills.

In every seventy years the average man grows a beard twenty-five feet long, hair almost fifty feet long and nails six feet long.

To tell a man with a cold in his head that colds always attack the weakest spot is adding insult to injury.

There is more catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from ten drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

A meeting of the executive committee of the Florida Press Association will be held at Jacksonville, in the editorial rooms of The Times-Union, to arrange the date for the next meeting of the association, which will be held at Lake City. The members of the executive committee are: T. F. McBeath of Gainesville, president of the association; T. J. Appleyard of Lake City, secretary; George W. Wilson of The Times-Union; D. E. Thompson of The St. Augustine Record; Fred L. Robertson of The Live Oak Crescent; C. L. Bennett of The Ocala Star; H. B. McKenzie of The Palatka Times-Herald.

The leveling power of Christianity is on trial again in a crisis that has arisen at the University of Chicago. The divinity students have a club, and an application for membership has been made by a student as black as tar. The only hope for his admission is said to be that he is a fine athlete and an expert billiardist, but it is not thought that these accomplishments hardly offset the racial objections. Here is an opportunity for President Roosevelt to exercise his rights of equality to all men.

Lost $3,000 Worth of Jewels.
San Francisco, Feb. 8.—E. M. Holbrook, a wealthy lumber man of Minneapolis, who, accompanied by his wife, has been spending some weeks in this city, started for home today. When about to board the Overland train Mrs. Holbrook discovered that a casket containing jewels valued at $3,000 had disappeared on the way from the hotel to the railroad. The travelers placed the matter in the hands of the police, but so far the detectives have not succeeded in finding the slightest clue to the missing gems.

Stabbed to Death in Quarrel.
Scranton, Feb. 8.—Barney Gustitus was stabbed to death and Anthony Lobutis fatally slashed in a street quarrel with union men in the north Scranton section early this morning. They were on their way home from a saloon when attacked. The police expect to arrest the murderers through clues furnished by two battered and bloody hats picked up in the street. When attacked Gustitus and Lobutis defended themselves with pickets torn from a fence.
